Hearing

Acoustic Immitance Measures

Acoustical characteristics of primary syllabic stress in excellent esophageal speakers. M. McHenry, A. Reich, & F. Minifie. December, 564-573.

Incudo-stapedial joint pathology: A tympanometric approach. P. H. Van De Heyning, K. J. Van Camp, W. L. Creten, & P. M. Vanpeperstraete. December, 611-618.

Newborn acoustic reflexes to noise and pure-tone signals. M. J. Bennett & L. A. Weatherby. September, 383-387.

Anatomy, Physiology, and Electrophysiology of the Normal Auditory System

An empirical evaluation of the effects of high-pass noise on the whole-nerve action potential. M. P. Gorga & P. J. Abbas. September, 456-461.

Auditory/Otic Pathologies

A 12-consonant confusion study on a multiple-channel cochlear implant patient. R. C. Dowell, L. F. A. Martin, Y. C. Tong, G. M. Clark, P. M. Seligman, & J. F. Patrick. December, 509-516.

Differentiation of types of presbycusis using the masking-level difference. R. E. Novak & C. V. Anderson. December, 504-508.

Hearing impairment and social isolation in the elderly. B. Weinstein & I. Ventry. December, 593-599.

Incudo-stapedial joint pathology: A tympanometric approach. P. H. Van de Heyning, K. J. Van Camp, W. L. Creten, & P. M. Vanpeperstrate. December, 611-618.

Diagnostic Audiometry

A calibration procedure for the assessment of thresholds above 8000 Hz. P. G. Stelmachowicz, M. P. Gorga & J. K. Cullen, December, 618-623.

A model for predicting clinically relevant group differences of open-response tests. H. N. Gutnick & R. St. John. September, 468-472.

Detection and recognition masking-level differences for the individual CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, J. L. Hopkins, C. M. Mance, & R. E. Novak. June, 235-242.

Differentiation of types of presbycusis using the masking-level difference. R. E. Novak & C. V. Anderson. December, 504-508.

Incudo-stapedial joint pathology: A tympanometric approach. P. H. Van de Heyning, K. J. Van Camp, W. L. Creten, & P. M. Vanpeperstraete. December, 611-618.

Masking of pure tones by broad-band noise in cochlear-impaired listeners. R. S. Tyler, M. A. Fernandes, & E. J. Wood. March, 117-124.

Newborn acoustic reflexes to noise and pure-tone signals. M. J. Bennett & L. A. Weatherby. September, 383-387.

Recognition masking-level differences for 10 CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, K. E. Shanks, & K. Koebsell. December, 624-628.

Thresholds and psychometric functions of the individual spondaic words. L. L. Young, B. Dudley, & M. B. Gunter. December, 586-593.

Electrophysiologic Audiometry

An empirical evaluation of the effects of high-pass noise on the whole-nerve action potential. M. P. Gorga & P. J. Abbas. September, 456-461.

Use of contralateral masking in the measurement of the ABR. L. E. Humes & M. G. Ochs. December, 528-535.

Habilitation, Rehabilitation, Education

A 12-consonant confusion study on a multiple-channel cochlear implant patient. R. C. Dowell, L. F. A. Martin, Y. C. Tong, G. M. Clark, P. M. Seligman, & J. F. Patrick. December, 509-516.

Analytic study of the Tadoma method: Further experiments with inexperienced observers. C. M. Reed, M. J. Doherty, L. D. Braida, & N. I. Durlach. June, 216-223.

Analytic study of the Tadoma method: Identification of consonants and vowels by an experienced Tadoma user. C. M. Reed, N. I. Durlach, & L. D. Braida. March, 108-116.

An investigation of spontaneous eye blinks during lipreading. S. A. Lesner & E. J. Hardick. December, 517-520.

Auditory, visual, and auditory-visual perception of vowels by hearing-impaired children. Z. C. Hack & N. P. Erber. March, 100-107.

Cued speech and the reception of spoken language. G. H. Nicholls & D. Ling. June, 262-269.

Hearing impairment and social isolation in the elderly. B. Weinstein & I. Ventry. December, 593-599.

The relationship between two visual communication systems: Reading and lipreading. A. Williams. December, 500-503.

Visual backward masking of selected visemes. A. D. Teigland & R. W. Wilson. June, 269-274.

Hearing Aids, Auditory Protheses

A 12-consonant confusion study on a multiple-channel cochlear implant patient. R. C. Dowell, L. F. A. Martin, Y. C. Tong, G. M. Clark, P. M. Seligman, & J. F. Patrick. December, 509-516.

Evaluation of high-fidelity hearing aids. M. C. Killion & T. W. Tillman. March, 15-25.

Revised estimates of hearing aid test system accuracy. T. H. Townsend. June, 166-170.

Hearing Loss and Deafness

Analytic study of the Tadoma method: Further experiments with inexperienced observers. C. M. Reed, M. J. Doherty, L. D. Braida, & N. I. Durlach. June, 216-223.

Analytic study of the Tadoma method: Identification of consonants and vowels by an experienced Tadoma user. C. M. Reed, N. I. Durlach, & L. D. Braida. March, 108-116.

A 12-consonant confusion study on a multiple-channel cochlear implant patient. R. C. Dowell, L. F. A. Martin, Y. C. Tong, G. M. Clark, P. M. Seligman, & J. F. Patrick. December, 509-516.

Auditory processing of vowels by normal-hearing and hearing-impaired listeners. S. P. Bacon & J. F. Brandt. September, 339-347.

Auditory, visual, and auditory-visual perception of vowels by hearing-impaired children. Z. C. Hack & N. P. Erber. March, 100-107.

Cued speech and the reception of spoken language. G. H. Nicholls & D. Ling. June, 262-269.

Dialogue in deaf and hearing preschoolers. L. S. McKirdy & M. Blank. December, 487-499.

Differentiation of types of presbycusis using the masking-level difference. R. E. Novak & C. V. Anderson. December, 504-508.

Evaluation of hearing-impaired listeners using a nonsense-syllable test I. Test reliability. J. R. Dubno & D. D. Dirks. March, 135-141.

Evaluation of hearing-impaired listeners using a nonsense-syllable test II. Syllable recognition and consonant confusion patterns. J. R. Dubno, D. D. Dirks, & L. R. Langhover. March, 141-148.

Evaluation of high-fidelity hearing aids. M. C. Killion & T. W. Tillman. March, 15-25.

Frequency discrimination in regions of normal and impaired sensitivity. C. W. Turner & D. A. Nelson. March, 34-41.

Hearing impairment and social isolation in the elderly. B. Weinstein & I. Ventry. December, 593-599.

Masking of pure tones by broad-band noise in cochlear-impaired listeners. R. S. Tyler, M. A. Fernandes, & E. J. Wood. March, 117-124.

Newborn acoustic reflexes to noise and pure-tone signals. M. J. Bennett & L. A. Weatherby. September, 383-387.

The relationship between two visual communication systems: Reading and lipreading. A. Williams. December, 500-503.

Use of contralateral masking in the measurement of the ABR. L. E. Humes & M. G. Ochs. December, 528-535.

Psychoacoustics

Acoustical characteristics of primary syllabic stress in excellent esophageal speakers. M. McHenry, A. Reich, & F. Minifie. December, 564-573.

Auditory processing of vowels by normal-hearing and hearing-impaired listeners. S. P. Bacon & J. F. Brandt. September, 339-347.

Central auditory function in fluent and disfluent normal speakers. M. K. Wynne & R. M. Boehmler. March, 54-57.

Detection and recognition masking-level differences for the individual CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, J. L. Hopkins, C. M. Mance, & R. E. Novak. June, 235-242.

Evaluation of high-fidelity hearing aids. M. C. Killion & T. W. Tillman. March, 15-25.

Frequency discrimination in regions of normal and impaired sensitivity. C. W. Turner & D. A. Nelson. March, 34-41.

Masking of pure tones by broad-band noise in cochlear-impaired listeners. R. S. Tyler, M. A. Fernandes, & E. J. Wood. March, 117-124.

Recognition masking-level differences for 10 CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, K. E. Shanks, & K. Koebsell. December, 624-628.

The influence of probe-tone parameters on the shape of psychophysical tuning curves in normal-hearing listeners. C. T. Grimes & H. N. Wright. September, 394-401.

The Lombard sign as a function of age and task. D. K. Amazi & S. R. Garber. December, .

Thresholds and psychometric functions of the individual spondaic words. L. L. Young, B. Dudley, & M. B. Gunter. December, 586-593.

SPEECH AUDIOMETRY

A model for predicting clinically relevant group differences of open-response tests. H. N. Gutnick & R. St. John. September, 468-472.
Detection and recognition masking-level differences for the individual CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, J. L. Hopkins, C. M. Mance, & R. E. Novak. June, 235-242.
Evaluation of hearing-impaired listeners using a nonsense-syllable test I. Test reliability. J. R. Dubno & D. D. Dirks. March, 135-141.
Evaluation of hearing-impaired listeners using a nonsense-syllable test II. Syllable recognition and consonant confusion patterns. J. R. Dubno, D. D. Dirks, & L. R. Langhofer. March, 141-148.
Recognition masking-level differences for 10 CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, K. E. Shanks, & K. Koebsell. December, 624-628.
Thresholds and psychometric functions of the individual spondaic words. L. L. Young, B. Dudley, & M. B. Gunter. December, 586-593.

Language

APHASIA, AGNOSIA, APRAXIA

Effects of rate of speech and linguistic stress on auditory paragraph comprehension of aphasic individuals. G. Pashek & R. Brookshire. September, 377-383.
Facilitating the comprehension of syntax in aphasia. R. S. Pierce. September, 408-413.
The effects of temporal and semantic conditions on the occurrence of the error response of perseveration in adult aphasics. M. J. Santo Pietro & S. Rigrodsky. June, 184-192.
The processing of printed language by aphasic adults: Some phonological and syntactic effects. J. L. Locke & J. W. Deck. June, 314-319.
The semantics of verbs in the dissolution and development of language. M. Lahey & C. D. Feier. March, 81-95.

ASSESSMENT

Interpreting the Leiter IQ: Performance profiles of young normal and language-disordered children. J. R. Johnston. June, 291-296.
Morphophonemic rule learning in normal and articulation-disordered children. C. Dunn & J. A. Till. September, 322-333.

LANGUAGE DISABILITIES IN CHILDREN

A technique for identifying the subgroup membership of certain misarticulating children. A. F. Johnson & R. L. Shelton. June, 162-166.
Dialogue in deaf and hearing preschoolers. L. S. McKirdy & M. Blank. December, 487-499.
Early lexical acquisition in children with specific language impairment. L. B. Leonard, R. G. Schwartz, K. Chapman, L. E. Rowan, B. Terrell, P. A. Prelock, A. Weiss, & C. Messick. December, 554-564.
Interpreting the Leiter IQ: Performance profiles of young normal and language-disordered children. J. R. Johnston. June, 291-296.
Language onset and concomitant speech and language problems in subgroups of stutterers and their siblings. R. A. Seider, K. L. Gladstien, & K. K. Kidd. December, 482-486.
Language processing and forms of immediate echolalia in autistic children. J. Paccia & F. Curcio. March, 42-47.
Morphophonemic rule learning in normal and articulation-disordered children. C. Dunn & J. A. Till. September, 322-333.
Phonological constrainis on the sentence productions of language-disordered children. J. M. Panagos & P. A. Prelock. June, 171-177.
The role of new and old information in the verbal expression of language-disordered children. E. Skarakis & P. M. Greenfield. September, 462-467.
Towards an understanding of retarded children's linguistic deficiencies. A. Kamhi & J. R. Johnston. September, 435-444.

MENTAL RETARDATION

Towards an understanding of retarded children's linguistic deficiencies. A. Kamhi & J. R. Johnston. September, 435-444.

NORMAL LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT

Developmental disfluency and emerging grammar I. Disfluency characteristics in early syntactic utterances. N. Colburn & E. D. Mysak. September, 414-420.
Developmental disfluency and emerging grammar II. Co-occurrence of disfluency with specified semantic-syntactic structures. N. Colburn & E. D. Mysak. September, 421-427.
Developmental use of vowel duration as a cue to postvocalic stop consonant voicing. S. E. Krause. September, 388-393.
Development in the use and understanding of polite forms in children. M. A. Nippold, L. B. Leonard, & A. Anastopoulos. June, 193-202.
Dialogue in deaf and hearing preschoolers. L. S. McKirdy & M. Blank. December, 487-499.
Gaze and proximity as turn regulators within three-party and two-party child conversations. H. K. Craig & T. M. Gallagher. March, 65-75.
Interpreting the Leiter IQ: Performance profiles of young normal and language-disordered children. J. R. Johnston. June, 291-296.
Mothers' perceptions of infant distress vocalizations. N. Petrovich-Bartell, N. Cowan, & P. A. Morse. September, 371-376.
Responses to requests in the dialogues of mothers and their Stage I children. N. J. Scherer & T. E. Coggins. March, 58-64.
The acquisition of personal pronouns and proper names by an identical twin pair. P. Waterman & M. Shatz. March, 149-154.
The effect of self-initiated and other-initiated actions on linguistic performance. A. G. Kamhi. June, 177-183.
The effects of feedback on referential communication of preschool children. S. J. Iwan & G. M. Siegel. June, 224-229.
The ontogenesis of agent: Cognitive notion. L. B. Olswang & R. L. Carpenter. June, 297-306.
The ontogenesis of agent: Linguistic expression. L. B. Olswang & R. L. Carpenter. June, 306-314.
The pragmatic function of children's questions. S. L. James. March, 2-11.
The semantics of verbs in the dissolution and development of language. M. Lahey & C. D. Feier. March, 81-95.
The temporal reliability of Brown's Mean Length of Utterance (MLU-M) Measure with post-Stage V children. S. S. Chabon, L. K. Udolf, & D. E. Egolf. March, 124-128.

PERSONALITY AND PSYCHIATRIC DISTURBANCES

Language processing and forms of immediate echolalia in autistic children. J. Paccia & F. Curcio. March, 42-47.

PSYCHOLINGUISTICS OF NORMAL LANGUAGE USE

A fluent backward talker. N. Cowan, L. A. Leavitt, D. W. Massaro, & R. D. Kent. March, 48-53.
Development in the use and understanding of polite forms in children. M. A. Nippold, L. B. Leonard, & A. Anastopoulos. June, 193-202.
The semantics of verbs in the dissolution and development of language. M. Lahey & C. D. Feier. March, 81-95.

Speech

ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY

Growth of the human prepubertal and pubertal larynx. J. C. Kahane. September, 446-455.
Lingual mechanoreceptive information I. An evoked-potential study of the central projections of the hypoglossal nerve afferent information. J. P. Bowman. September, 348-356.
Lingual mechanoreceptive information II. An evoked-potential study of the central projections of low-threshold lingual nerve afferent information. J. P. Bowman. September, 356-363.

ARTICULATION OR PHONOLOGICAL DISORDERS

Associations among pragmatic function, linguistic stress, and natural phonological processes in speech-delayed children. T. F. Campbell & L. D. Shriberg. December, 547-553.
Associations between phonology and syntax in speech-delayed children. R. Paul & L. D. Shriberg. December, 536-547.
A technique for identifying the subgroup membership of certain misarticulating children. A. F. Johnson & R. L. Shelton. June, 162-166.
Language onset and concomitant speech and language problems in subgroups of stutterers and their siblings. R. A. Seider, K. L. Gladstien, & K. K. Kidd. December, 482-486.
Morphophonemic rule learning in normal and articulation-disordered children. C. Dunn & J. A. Till. September, 322-333.
Phonological constraints on the sentence productions of language-disordered children. J. M. Panagos & P. A. Prelock. June, 171-177.
Temporal characteristics of "functionally" misarticulated /s/ in 4- to 6-year old children. G. Weismer & M. Elbert. June, 275-287.

ASSESSMENT

Morphophonemic rule learning in normal and articulation-disordered children. C. Dunn & J. A. Till. September, 322-333.

CRANIOFACIAL ANOMALIES, VOCAL TRACT DISABILITIES

The interrelationships between ratings of speech and facial acceptability in persons with cleft palate. G. R. Sinko & D. L. Hedrick. September, 402-407.

Neurologic Disabilities

Acoustic properties of pathologic reiterative utterances: A case study of palilalia. R. D. Kent & L. L. LaPointe. March, 95-99.

The effects of temporal and semantic conditions on the occurrence of the error response of perseveration in adult aphasics. M. J. Santo Pietro & S. Rigrodsky. June, 184-192.

Personality and Psychiatric Disturbances

Language processing and forms of immediate echolalia in autistic children. J. Paccia & F. Curcio. March, 42-47.

Speech or Voice Production

Acoustical characteristics of primary syllabic stress in excellent esophageal speakers. M. McHenry, A. Reich, & F. Minifie. December, 564-573.

A fluent backward talker. N. Cowan, L. A. Leavitt, D. W. Massaro, & R. D. Kent. March, 48-53.

A note on temporal errors in fundamental frequency perturbation measures for sampled waveforms. R. Troughear. December, .

A respirometric technique for evaluating velopharyngeal closure in children. N. Shaw & H. R. Gilbert. September, 476-480.

Assessment of three models of alaryngeal speech with a Synthetic Sentence Identification (SSI) task in varying message-to-competition ratios. J. G. Clark & J. C. Stemple. September, 333-338.

Critical feedback variables in stuttering—A reply to Irwin Altrows. S. C. G. Stephen & M. P. Haggard. December, 632-633.

Developmental use of vowel duration as a cue to postvocalic stop consonant voicing. S. E. Krause. September, 388-393.

Fundamental frequency characteristics of young Black adults: Spontaneous speaking and oral reading. A. I. Hudson & A. Holbrook. March, 25-28.

Jitter and shimmer differences among sustained vowel phonations. Y. Horii. March, 12-14.

Letter to Stoicheff. H. Hollien. June, 320.

Mothers' perceptions of infant distress vocalizations. N. Petrovich-Bartell, N. Cowan, & P. A. Morse. September, 371-376.

Parameters of auditory feedback. G. M. Siegel, E. J. Schork, Jr., H. L. Pick, Jr., & S. R. Garber. September, 473-475.

Reply to Hollien. M. L. Stoicheff. June, 320.

Some voice fundamental frequency characteristics of oral reading and spontaneous speech by hard-of-hearing young women. Y. Horii. December, 608-610.

Voice onset time in a normal-aged population. P. A. Sweeting & R. J. Baken. March, 129-134.

Speech Perception, Auditory Processing

Acoustical characteristics of primary syllabic stress in excellent esophageal speakers. M. McHenry, A. Reich, & F. Minifie. December, 564-573.

Auditory, visual, and auditory-visual perception of vowels by hearing-impaired children. Z. C. Hack & N. P. Erber. March, 100-107.

Coarticulation effects in lipreading. A. P. Benguerel & M. K. Pichora-Fuller. December, 600-607.

Masking of pure tones by broad-band noise in cochlear-impaired listeners. R. S. Tyler, M. A. Fernandes, & E. J. Wood. March, 117-124.

Mothers' perceptions of infant distress vocalizations. N. Petrovich-Bartell, N. Cowan, & P. A. Morse. September, 371-376.

Parameters of auditory feedback. G. M. Siegel, E. J. Schork, Jr., H. L. Pick, Jr., & S. R. Garber. September, 473-475.

Relationships of vowel characteristics to listener ratings of breathiness. R. J. Klich. December, 574-580.

Speech discrimination in preschool children: A comparison of two tasks. S. Menary, S. E. Trehub, & J. McNutt. June, 202-207.

Visual backward masking of selected visemes. A. D. Teigland & W. R. Wilson. June, 269-274.

Visual-neural correlate of speechreading ability in normal-hearing adults: Reliability. D. C. Shepherd. December, 521-527.

Stuttering, Other Fluency Disorders

A comparison of stutterers and nonstutterers in a task of controlled voice onset. A. R. Mallard, D. M. Hicks, & D. E. Riggs. June, 287-290.

Acoustic properties of pathologic reiterative utterances: A case study of palilalia. R. D. Kent & L. L. LaPointe. March, 95-99.

Anomalous auditory feedback delays and stuttering. I. F. Altrows. December, 631-632.

Central auditory function in fluent and disfluent normal speakers. M. K. Wynne & R. M. Boehmler. March, 54-57.

Critical feedback variables in stuttering—A reply to Irwin Altrows. S. C. G. Stephan & M. P. Haggard. December, 632-633.

Developmental disfluency and emerging grammar I. Disfluency characteristics in early syntactic utterances. N. Colburn & E. D. Mysak. September, 414-420.

Developmental disfluency and emerging grammar II. Co-occurrence of disfluency with specified semantic-syntactic structures. N. Colburn & E. D. Mysak. September, 421-427.

Developmental disfluency in 2-, 4-, and 6-year-old males in neutral and stress situations. K. B. Wexler. June, 229-234.

Language onset and concomitant speech and language problems in subgroups of stutterers and their siblings. R. A. Seider, K. L. Gladstien, & K. K. Kidd. December, 482-486.

Longitudinal studies of disfluencies in two-year-old children. E. Yairi. March, 155-160.

Spectrographic study of vowels in stutterers' fluent speech. R. J. Klich & G. M. May. September, 364-370.

Speech-langauge pathologists' connotations of stuttering. D. Ragsdale & J. K. Ashby. March, 75-80.

Stuttering: Speech pattern characteristics under fluency-inducing conditions. G. Andrews, P. M. Howie, M. Dozsa, & B. E. Guitar. June, 208-216.

Temporal characteristics related to the discrimination of stutterers' and nonstutterers' fluent speech. R. A. Prosek & C. M. Runyan. March, 29-33.

Treatment

Assessment of three models of alaryngeal speech with a Synthetic Sentence Identification (SSI) task in varying message-to-competition ratios. J. G. Clark & J. C. Stemple. September, 333-338.

Voice Disorders, Laryngeal Disabilities

Assessment of three models of alaryngeal speech with a Synthetic Sentence Identification (SSI) task in varying message-to-competition ratios. J. G. Clark & J. C. Stemple. September, 333-338.

Relationships of vowel characteristics to listener ratings of breathiness. R. J. Klich. December, 574-580.

Professional and General Scientific Issues

Clinical Supervision

An investigation of spontaneous eye blinks during lipreading. S. A. Lesner & E. J. Hardick. December, 517-520.

A 12-consonant confusion study on a multiple-channel cochlear implant patient. R. C. Dowell, L. F. A. Martin, Y. C. Tong, G. M. Clark, P. M. Seligman, & J. F. Patrick. December, 509-516.

Development and validation of an individual supervisory conference rating scale for use in speech-language pathology. K. J. Smith & J. L. Anderson. June, 243-251.

Differentiation of types of presbycusis using the masking-level difference. R. E. Novak & C. V. Anderson. December, 504-508.

Relationship of perceived effectiveness to verbal interaction/content variables in supervisory conferences in speech-language pathology. K. J. Smith & J. L. Anderson. June, 252-261.

Supervisor-supervisee role differences and consistency of behavior in supervisory conferences. J. E. Roberts & K. J. Smith. September, 428-434.

Research Issues and Methodologies

Parameters of auditory feedback. G. M. Siegel, E. J. Schork, Jr., H. L. Pick, Jr., & S. R. Garber. September, 473-475.

Supervisor-supervisee role differences and consistency of behavior in supervisory conferences. J. E. Roberts & K. J. Smith. September, 428-434.

Title Index

A calibration procedure for the assessment of thresholds above 8000 Hz. P. G. Stelmachowicz, M. P. Gorga & J. K. Cullen. December, 618-623.

A comparison of stutterers and nonstutterers in a task of controlled voice onset. A. R. Mallard, D. M. Hicks, & D. E. Riggs. June, 287-290.

Acoustical characteristics of primary syllabic stress in excellent esophageal speakers. M. McHenry, A. Reich, & M. Minifie. December, 564-573.

A model for predicting clinically relevant group differences of open-response tests. H. N. Gutnick & R. St. John. September, 468-472.

Analytic study of the Tadoma method: Further experiments with inexperienced observers. C. M. Reed, M. J. Doherty, L. D. Braida, & N. I. Durlach. June, 216-223.
Analytic study of the Tadoma method: Identification of consonants and vowels by an experienced Tadoma user. C. M. Reed, N. I. Durlach, & L. D. Braida. March, 108-116.
An empirical evaluation of the effects of high-pass noise on the whole-nerve action potential. M. P. Gorga & P. J. Abbas. September, 456-461.
An investigation of spontaneous eye blinks during lipreading. S. A. Lesner & E. J. Hardick. December, 517-520.
Anomalous auditory feedback delays and stuttering. I. F. Altrows. December, 631-632.
A note on temporal errors in fundamental frequency perturbation measures for sampled waveforms. R. Troughear. December, 628-630.
A respirometric technique for evaluating velopharyngeal closure in children. N. Shaw & H. R. Gilbert. September, 476-480.
Assessment of three models of alaryngeal speech with a Synthetic Sentence Identification (SSI) task in varying message-to-competition ratios. J. G. Clark & J. C. Stemple. September, 333-338.
Associations among pragmatic function, linguistic stress, and natural phonological processes in speech-delayed children. T. F. Campbell & L. D. Shriberg. December, 547-553.
Associations between phonology and syntax in speech-delayed children. R. Paul & L. D. Shriberg. December, 536-547.
A technique for identifying the subgroup membership of certain misarticulating children. A. F. Johnson & R. L. Shelton. June, 162-166.
A 12-consonant confusion study on a multiple-channel cochlear implant patient. R. C. Dowell, L. F. Martin, Y. C. Tong, G. M. Clark, P. M. Seligman, & J. F. Patrick. December, 509-516.
Auditory processing of vowels by normal-hearing and hearing-impaired listeners. S. P. Bacon & J. F. Brandt. September, 339-347.
Auditory, visual, and auditory-visual perception of vowels by hearing-impaired children. Z. C. Hack & N. P. Erber. March, 100-107.
Coarticulation effects in lipreading. A. P. Benguerel & M. K. Pichora-Fuller. December, 600-607.
Cued speech and the reception of spoken language. G. H. Nicholls & D. Ling. June, 262-269.
Developmental disfluency and emerging grammar I. Disfluency characteristics in early syntactic utterances. N. Colburn & E. D. Mysak. September, 414-420.
Developmental disfluency and emerging grammar II. Co-occurrence of disfluency with specified semantic-syntactic structures. N. Colburn & E. D. Mysak. September, 421-427.
Developmental disfluency in 2-, 4-, and 6-year-old males in neutral and stress situations. K. B. Wexler. June, 229-234.
Developmental use of vowel duration as a cue to postvocalic stop consonant voicing. S. E. Krause. September, 388-393.
Development and validation of an individual supervisory conference rating scale for use in speech-language pathology. K. J. Smith & J. L. Anderson. June, 243-251.
Development in the use and understanding of polite forms in children. M. A. Nippold, L. B. Leonard, & A. Anastopoulos. June, 193-202.
Detection and recognition masking-level differences for the individual CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, J. L. Hopkins, C. M. Mance, & R. E. Novak. June, 235-242.
Dialogue in deaf and hearing preschoolers. L. S. McKirdy & M. Blank. December, 487-499.
Differentiation of types of presbycusis using the masking-level difference. R. E. Novak & C. V. Anderson. December, 504-508.
Early lexical acquisition in children with specific language impairment. L. B. Leonard, R. G. Schwartz, K. Chapman, L. E. Rowan, B. Terrell, P. A. Prelock, A. Weiss, & C. Messick. December, 554-564.
Effects of rate of speech and linguistic stress on auditory paragraph comprehension of aphasic individuals. G. Pashek & R. Brookshire. September, 377-383.
Evaluation of hearing-impaired listeners using a nonsense-syllable test I. Test reliability. J. R. Dubno & D. D. Dirks. March, 135-141.
Evaluation of hearing-impaired listeners using a nonsense-syllable test II. Syllable recognition and consonant confusion patterns. J. R. Dubno, D. D. Dirks, & L. R. Langhofer. March, 141-148.
Evaluation of high-fidelity hearing aids. M. C. Killion & T. W. Tillman. March, 15-25.
Facilitating the comprehension of syntax in aphasia. R. S. Pierce. September, 408-413.
Frequency discrimination in regions of normal and impaired sensitivity. C. W. Turner & D. A. Nelson. March, 34-41.
Fundamental frequency characteristics of young Black adults: Spontaneous speaking and oral reading. A. I. Hudson & A. Holbrook. March, 25-28.
Gaze and proximity as turn regulators within three-party and two-party child conversations. H. K. Craig & T. M. Gallagher. March, 65-75.
Growth of the human prepubertal and pubertal larynx. J. C. Kahane. September, 446-455.
Hearing impairment and social isolation in the elderly. B. Weinstein & I. Ventry. December, 593-599.
Incudo-stapedial joint pathology: A tympanometric approach. P. H. Van de Heyning, K. J. Van Camp, W. L. Creten, & P. M. Vanpeperstraete. December, 611-618.
Interpreting the Leiter IQ: Performance profiles of young normal and language-disordered children. J. R. Johnston. June, 291-296.
Jitter and shimmer differences among sustained vowel phonations. Y. Horii. March, 12-14.
Language onset and concomitant speech and language problems in subgroups of stutterers and their siblings. R. A. Seider, K. L. Gladstien, & K. K. Kidd. December, 482-486.
Language processing and forms of immediate echolalia in autistic children. J. Paccia & F. Curcio. March, 42-47.
Letter to Stoicheff. H. Hollien. June, 320.
Lingual mechanoreceptive information I. An evoked-potential study of the central projections of the hypoglossal nerve afferent information. J. P. Bowman. September, 348-356.
Lingual mechanoreceptive information II. An evoked-potential study of the central projections of low-threshold lingual nerve afferent information. J. P. Bowman. September, 356-363.
Longitudinal studies of disfluencies in two-year-old children. E. Yairi. March, 155-160.
Masking of pure tones by broad-band noise in cochlear-impaired listeners. R. S. Tyler, M. A. Fernandes, & E. J. Wood. March, 117-124.
Morphophonemic rule learning in normal and articulation-disordered children. C. Dunn & J. A. Till. September, 322-333.
Mothers' perceptions of infant distress vocalizations. N. Petrovich-Bartell, N. Cowan, & P. A. Morse. September, 371-376.
Newborn acoustic reflexes to noise and pure-tone signals. M. J. Bennett & L. A. Weatherby. September, 383-387.
Parameters of auditory feedback. G. M. Siegel, E. J. Schork, Jr., H. L. Pick, Jr., & S. R. Garber. September, 473-475.
Phonological constraints on the sentence productions of language-disordered children. J. M. Panagos & P. A. Prelock. June, 171-177.
Recognition masking-level differences for 10 CID W-1 spondaic words. R. H. Wilson, K. E. Shanks, & K. Koebsell. December, 624-628.
Relationship of perceived effectiveness to verbal interaction/content variables in supervisory conferences in speech-language pathology. K. J. Smith & J. L. Anderson. June, 252-261.
Reply to Hollien. M. L. Stoicheff. June, 320.
Responses to requests in the dialogues of mothers and their Stage I children. N. J. Scherer & T. E. Coggins. March, 58-64.
Revised estimates of hearing aid test system accuracy. T. H. Townsend. June, 166-170.
Some voice fundamental frequency characteristics of oral reading and spontaneous speech by hard-of-hearing young women. Y. Horii. December, 608-610.
Spectrographic study of vowels in stutterers' fluent speech. R. J. Klich & G. M. May. September, 364-370.
